

Dead at Eighty-Six

Fisher Aylor, colored, 86, who resided out on the Petersburg pike near the second covered bridge for many years, died at his home in Erlanger, last Friday. He was an old federal soldier, and in slave times was the property of the late Lystra Aylor, of Limaburg neighborhood. He was a member of Burlington colored church, of which he has been the main stay for many years, and his influence for good among the colored people will be missed.

"Obituary of Fisher Aylor: Dead at Eighty-Six," The Boone County Recorder, Fort Mitchell, Ky., 6 Mar 1907, page 5, column 2